Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 21-23, 25-27, and 29-31, now renumbered 1-9, are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: With respect to claims 21 and 29, no prior art teaches:

second circuitry adapted to receive the fetch address, receive the first control signal generated by the first circuitry, generate a second control signal based on the first control signal and indicating the matching block, generate block-enable control signals for the cache memory, apply the block-enable control signals to the cache memory, such that the matching block in the cache memory is enabled and the (Y-1) other blocks in the cache memory are at least partly disabled, and apply the fetch address to the cache memory to read one or more associated words from the enabled matching block, wherein the second circuitry generates the second control signal, applies the block-enable control signals to the cache memory to enable the matching block and at least partly disable the (y-1) other blocks and applies the fetch address to the cache memory to read the one or more associated words from the enabled matching block; and third circuitry connected to an output of each block of the cache memory and adapted to receive the second control signal generated by the second circuitry, receive the one or more associated words from the enabled matching block, and select one or more associated words for output from the cache memory based on the second control signal, wherein the third circuitry receives the second control signal, receives the one or more associated words from the enabled matching block, and selects the one or more associated words for output from the cache memory based on the second control signal.

Claim 25 is a method which is similar to the apparatus of claim 21 and cache memory of claim 29, and is therefore allowable for similar reasons as the allowable claims 21 and 29.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
